INTEREST STEADILY GROWING

Knights of Pythias Also to Attend Tonight-Large Sale of Tickets for the Many Valuable Articles to Be Chanced

Tonight promises to be the most picturesque of the Masonic fair. The Red Men will be there with all of their feathers and paint, and will make the hall resound with their warwhoop as they vic with each other in their efforts to spend money. They will bring their own music, and are expected to startle the visitors with their unique costumes.

The tribe will meet at the hall on Pennsylvania Avenue, between Ninth and Tenth Streets northwest, at 7:45 o'clock, and march to Convention Hall. They will be preceded by the members of the Knights of Pythias, who will assemble at the Warder Building, corner of Ninth and F Streets northwest, at 7:45 o'clock, and be escorted to the fair by the Old Guard Band. It is the present program to receive the two bodies separately, and for this reason the Red Men will not leave the members of the same and the program of the Dancing Palace; in the main hall the man with the reason the Red Men will not leave be preceded by the members of the this reason the Red Men will not leave their quarters until they have been advised that the other body is out of the Prizes to Be Chanced Off.

There are many magnificent articles which are to be given away at the fair to the holders of the fortunate tickets now being sold. Prominent among them, of course, are the five grand prizes to be awarded to the holders of season tickets to the fair. The awarding of these prizes may be somewhat delayed, as it is deemed advisable to secure the returns from all quarters before the assignment is made. While returns for the 32,000 tickets sent out are coming in rapidly, there are still many persons from whom no report has been received, and a reasonable time will be allowed before the final action is taken. The first of these prizes is an upright oak Huntington piano valued at $300. It is to be found on exhibition on the east side of the hall, near the K Street exit. Beside it is the tecond prize, the Cecilian, reputed to be one of the best of the self-playing piano attachments, and valued at $250.

Perhaps the man who "exists" in the boardinghouse has also noticed that he draws more blanks in the beefsteak lottery than formerly. The advance in price is also having the effect of placing prohibitive tariff on the commodity for the man of family who is in poor circum stances. He eats more rice, more beans and other vegetables than he did formerly and these articles of food will undoubtedly be influenced by the demand and rise also.

Inquiry Into the Causes. While the effects of the advanced price of beef are easily seen, it is a much more difficult matter to ascertain the exact auses. The fault certainly does not lie with the retail dealers, nor with the wholesale men who buy from the big con cerns that control the supply, for they are among the worst sufferers from the rise on account of the decrease in sales the two-story frame building at 3413 On the other hand it is claimed by the packing houses that the rise in price is somes Butier, colored, his wife and six brought about by natural causes. Promise of Contest Over Lucrative State Offices.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE'S TALK

It Is Believed He Has Consulted the President, and That What He Will Say Will Be Authoritative-Platform Will Indorse Philippine Policy.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22. The fight in the Republican State convention, ton row and Thursday, will be largely a contest for the lucrative State offices which are to be filled this fall. This is the first of the State conventions, and the platform adopted and the keynote speech to be made by Senator Albert J. Beveridge, are expected to be taken as precedents for other State con-

Senator Beveridge is understood to have consulted President Roosevelt, and his utterances are expected to come with The platform will include the following planks: "We mourn the death of President, William McKinley. We indorse the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt. We hold that the doctrine of American sovereignty in the Philippines must be maintained, and we approve the course of the Administration in regard to the islneither the owner nor Surveyor signed it, ands. We hold that the Filipinos should be given as much part in the administra across the face, and the whole plat is tion of their affairs as is compatible with existing conditions. We are gratified that Cuba has been launched under its own government so auspiciously. We adhere to the policy of protection which has benefited commerce and industry immeasurably and under which wages have increased. We favor the extension of markets through reciprocity whenever and wherever it can be done. "We favor a revision of tariff schedules from time to time as changing conditions justify. We reassert the doctrine of sound money and the value of the gold standard as most beneficial to the interests of all the people. We favor the construction of an interoceanic canal connecting the Atlantic with the Pacific Ocean. We favor legislation which shall har out cheap labor and maintain the American laboring man in his present prosperity. "We believe that liberal provisions as to pensions should be made for the widows and the orphans and the survivors of the recent wars with Spain, in the Philippines, and in China. We indorse the acts of the Senators and the Republican Representatives in Congress for marked ability and descriptor to the principles of Matthews, it was said, was very noisy near Second and H Streets last night, and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy, and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy, and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy, and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy, and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy and devotion to the principles of the party and the people. We favor stringent laws for the principles of the party and devotion to the principles of the party and devotion to the principles of the party and the people. We favor stringent laws for the suppression of anarchy ability and devotion to the principles of the party and the people. We favor stringent laws for the suppression of anarchy and when a policeman tried to arrest laws for the suppression of anarchy and the people. their aim the restriction of business and the control of prices. We recognize that combinations of labor and capital are necessary in developing industry and busnecessary in developing industry and business since combinations, rightfully conducted, are able to accomplish much that individuals could not.

"We deplore, however, the evils which result from combinations of labor and capital, and commend President Roosevelt in his efforts to eliminate such evils. We are opposed to violent and revolutionary measures."
